last update: February 14, 2023

Fighting Blood

Fighting Blood was a recurring character series produced by FBO. According to my limited research, there were two series, each containing (12) two-reelers, all of them released in 1923. June Marlowe appeared as an uncredited extra in at least one chapter which were called “rounds” in keeping with the boxing theme. The Library of Congress possesses at least some of these reels. I currently do not know which chapter June Marlowe appeared in or the name of that chapter. Her great-niece, “Ruth” was attempting to do some research on a forum back in 2015. I do not know if she made any progress or is still doing research but if anyone reading this knows how to contact her and wants to direct her to the item page, feel free to do so. It would be fun to have one of June Marlowe’s kin involved in research and adding valuable information and data to the page.

Info links

Two IMDb entries: 1 2

AVCLUB

TMDB

Nitrateville (silent film forum)

findagrave.com and nowweknowem

> While attending Hollywood High she was spotted in a school play by director Malcolm St. Clair, who got her an agent and eventually arranged for her movie debut in "Fighting Blood" (1923).